The Mabie Law Library seeks a Research Law Librarian. We welcome applications from both experienced librarians and those newer to law librarianship.

Responsibilities:
- Provide in-person and virtual reference services for law students, law faculty and other library users;
- Serve as a liaison to individual law faculty and provide complex research assistance in support of their scholarship and teaching;
- Provide one-on-one or classroom-based legal research instruction, and provide topical presentations to student groups, faculty, and other users as needed;
- Contribute suggestions for developing the library’s print and electronic collections;
- Create online research and instructional guides and online tutorials, and contribute other content to the library website;
- Assist with the recommendation, development and adoption of technologies and systems relevant to reference services;
- Contribute to the ongoing development and implementation of reference practices and policies;
- Participate in library marketing, communications, and outreach efforts;
- Provide library tours and orientations for law students and other library users;
- Fully participate as a member of the overall Law Library team in delivering library services, productively collaborating on shared projects, and meeting department goals;
- Participate in opportunities to contribute to the School of Law community, such as by joining committees and volunteering for events;
- Fulfill other duties as assigned.

Basic qualifications (required at time of application)
- A Juris Doctorate (JD) from an ABA-accredited law school
- A Master of Library and Information Science (M.L.I.S.) or equivalent degree from an ALA-accredited library and information science school, current enrollment towards such a degree, or an interest in earning such a degree
- Excellent research skills and knowledge of legal research systems and resources
- Experience providing research services, performing legal research, or providing related support in a library or other professional setting. Relevant experience gained as a student, such as in internships, graduate programs, or research assistantships, will be considered
- Experience or interest in teaching
- Comfort with learning and applying new technologies;
• Strong customer service orientation, organizational skills, and attention to detail
• Ability to independently and effectively manage and prioritize projects and time
• Excellent communication skills and the ability to work effectively with library colleagues and a diverse range of library users
• Flexibility, creativity, and ability to adapt to change.
