

Systems and Electronic Resources Librarian

Are you passionate about library technology and digital access? Do you thrive in collaborative environments where innovation meets tradition? We're looking for a Systems and Electronic Resources Librarian to lead the way in managing and evolving our library's tech infrastructure.

Why You'll Love Working With Us:

At the Hugh and Hazel Darling Law Library at Chapman University's Fowler School of Law, we believe in empowering our community through access to information. You'll be part of a supportive team that values creativity, problem-solving, and professional growth. We offer a dynamic work environment where your expertise in systems and electronic resources will directly enhance the learning and research experience for our students, faculty, and staff.

What You'll Do:

- Lead the implementation of library technologies.
- Serve as the systems administrator for our Integrated Library System (ILS).
- Configure and maintain remote authentication systems and proxy servers.
- Act as the primary liaison to ILS and database vendors.
- Train and support library staff in using technology tools and applications.
- Collaborate with university-wide teams to ensure tech compatibility and compliance.
- Develop and maintain clear documentation and policies.
- Troubleshoot issues and keep our systems running smoothly.

What We're Looking For:

- A tech-savvy librarian with a strong understanding of library systems and electronic resources.

- A collaborative spirit who enjoys working across departments and with external partners.
- A proactive problem-solver who can identify and implement innovative solutions.
- Someone who values user experience and is committed to continuous improvement.

If you're excited about shaping the future of law library services through technology, we'd love to hear from you. See the position information and apply for this job at
